have been taken. These include: sustained police and security force operations to contain the activities of the terrorists; acceleration of the pace of economic and development activities; reactivation of the civil administration and revival of its normal activities; measures to strengthen the confidence of the people and enlisting their cooperation with the administration; encouraging the misguided youth to come into the main stream; and, reactivation of the political forces in the State. During the past six months efforts in all these directions have been intensively pursued with definite positive results. During this period Government have also held consultations with leaders of various political parties at the Central and State levels with a view to eliciting their views and cooperation for the restoration of peace and the democratic process in the State, and it continues to remain open to dialogire and discussions with any other individuals/ groups towards this end.

In November, 1995, the Prime Minister also made a Statement which inter-alia included the commitment of Government to preserve the special Constitutional status of Jammu and Kashmir, its willingness to strengthen the autonomy of the State within the Constitution keeping in view the aspirations of the people of the entire State, restoration of the nomenclatures of "Wazir-e-Azam" and "Sadar-e-RPiyasat" and the plans of the Government to formulate additional financial and development benefits for the State.

During the last six months. 1537 militants belonging to various outfits have been apprehended, 1312 have been killed, and around 550 have surrendered alongwith a large number of arms and ammunition pursuant to the announcement of a policy for surrender of militants in August, 1995.
